

Green Is One of Our Many Colors.

At Spectra Energy, we know that painting ourselves green doesn't make us green.

It takes hard work – and commitment to sustainability on many fronts.

That is why we offer a rainbow of opportunities to those we serve: The blue flame of natural gas, fueling economies across North America. The red heart of caring for our communities and neighbors. The black and white financial results investors can count upon. And the green of our ongoing efforts to operate in a safe and environmentally responsibly manner.

Those are the true colors of Spectra Energy, a leading natural gas infrastructure company – serving a vibrant world.
