

Douglas P. Bloom

*President
Spectra Energy Transmission West*

Doug Bloom is president of Spectra Energy Transmission's western Canadian operations, responsible for four of the company's western-based divisions: BC Pipeline, BC Field Services, Midstream, and Natural Gas Liquids (NGL).

Prior to his current role, Bloom served as President of Maritimes & Northeast Pipeline, a company 77.53 percent owned by Spectra Energy and based in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Bloom joined the company in 1987 as a regulatory affairs supervisor for Westcoast Energy in Vancouver. He held a series of management positions in information technology, regulated businesses and marketing, and was appointed vice president, customer service and marketing in 1994. In 1996, Bloom was appointed vice president of business services, responsible for the company's engineering and construction, supply chain, information technology, human resources and administrative functions.

Following Duke Energy's acquisition of Westcoast Energy in 2002, Bloom became vice president of business integration, responsible for the assimilation of Westcoast into Duke Energy. He was then named vice president of strategic planning and risk management for Duke Energy Gas Transmission, and in 2003 was appointed president of Maritimes & Northeast Pipeline.

Before joining the company, Bloom served as manager of market analysis for Alberta Petroleum Marketing Commission in Calgary, and prior to that spent seven years in economic consulting with Columbia Pacific Group in Vancouver, serving energy and transportation clients.

Bloom holds bachelor's and master's degrees in economics, both from Simon Fraser University in Burnaby, British Columbia. He is on the board of the Canadian Energy Pipeline Association and previously served on the External Advisory Board for the Simon Fraser University Executive MBA program. He has served on the board of the Greater Halifax Partnership, and chaired its Audit Committee. Bloom has been a long-time volunteer with United Way and served in fund-raising capacities in Vancouver, Calgary and Halifax, having chaired the fund-raising campaign for the United Way of the Halifax region in 2004.

He and his wife Wendy have three grown sons, and reside in Calgary, Alberta.

Spectra Energy Corp (NYSE: SE), a FORTUNE 500 company, is one of North America's premier natural gas infrastructure companies serving three key links in the natural gas value chain: gathering and processing, transmission and storage, and distribution. For nearly a century, Spectra Energy and its predecessor companies have developed critically important pipelines and related infrastructure connecting natural gas supply sources to premium markets. Based in Houston, Texas, the company operates in the United States and Canada approximately 19,100 miles of transmission pipeline, more than 285 billion cubic feet of storage, as well as natural gas gathering and processing, natural gas liquids operations and local distribution assets. The company also has a 50 percent ownership in DCP Midstream, one of the largest natural gas gatherers and processors in the United States. Spectra Energy was recently ranked by FORTUNE as the world's "most admired" pipeline company. For more information, visit www.spectraenergy.com.
